CHARLOTTE – The Carolina Thread Trail is now a 15-county initiative to build greenways, hiking trails and paddling trails from as far north as Iredell County to as far south as Chester County.

“What makes this project so special is that it has so many benefits for so many people,” Dean Thompson, of the Carolina Thread Trail, said. “It really is one of those monumental landmark projects that provides public access for everyone to enjoy.”

The entire project linking communities together will take 15 to 20 years to complete.
