Help plan Concord greenway

CONCORD City officials want your ideas as they consider improving a gravel trail along a segment of Rocky River between Harris Road and N.C. 73. The improvements would make the trail a part of Concord's greenway system.

City officials said they're thinking about paving the trail, adding amenities and providing connections to Moss Creek, Odell Elementary and Harris Road Middle schools and Moss Farm Street, where public parking will be available.

That corridor has been designated for the Carolina Thread Trail. The regional greenway trail system is planned to link about 2.3 million people in 15 Carolinas counties. Concord officials ask residents to complete a trail survey at www.surveymonkey.com/s/rockyrivergreenway.
